

Lecorpio General Matter Management

Key Benefits

Make data-driven decisions

- Robust reporting provides at-a-glance analysis of all matters under management including opposition filings, enforcement actions, arbitration, litigation, contracts, and license agreements and more

Gain insight

- Link general matters to patent and trademark cases, for 360-degree view of your IP

Align priorities with objectives

- Understand where time and resources are spent and ensure alignment with corporate objectives
- Streamline and collaborate, assign matters internally and team with outside counsel when necessary and understand the current status of all activity

Stay Informed

- Set alerts and never miss important dates associated with oppositions, contracts and other IP matters

With fewer resources, corporate legal departments are being asked to not only support strategic business objectives and manage risks, they are also required to track and manage volumes of information and activity. Without the right systems in place to manage opposition filings, enforcement actions, arbitration, litigation, contracts, and license agreements, gaining visibility and control is nearly impossible.

Gain visibility and control

Lecorpio General Matter Management tracks all matter types including opposition filings, enforcement actions, arbitration, litigation, contracts, license agreements and more. With a flexible, easy-to-use interface and robust reporting, in-house counsel can easily create and track new matters while benefitting from both standard and custom reporting capabilities. Lecorpio General Matter Management enables in-house counsel the ability to track all activity and gain a thorough understanding of competing priorities to ultimately make better decisions.

Work collaboratively

Lecorpio General Matter Management supports collaboration between in-house and outside counsel. With granular user rights capabilities, access to matters and fields can be restricted – users can be granted read- only, no access, or full access. All actions taken are logged, and e-mail correspondence sent or received can automatically be recorded within the system.

Leverage the power of Lecorpio

Fully integrated into the Lecorpio suite of intellectual property management solutions, Lecorpio General Matter Management tracks all matter types. Those matters can also be linked to cases within Lecorpio’s Patent and Trademark modules to gain additional visibility. Additionally, Lecorpio General Matter Management works with Lecorpio Spend Management enabling streamlined billing, and automated budgeting and forecasting for all matters under management.

With Lecorpio Matter Management users can:

- Create matters of any type, assign for follow-up, and set alerts
- Integrate with e-mail systems and track all correspondence
- Leverage robust reporting and analytics to gain insight
- Rely upon enterprise-class security with support for SSO
- Upload documents, create user defined fields
